Don't Be Pale and Sickly Always-Let Goldine Build Up Your System.

Are you one of those weak, frail-appearing men who seem small and insignificant in the presence of real well-developed, red-blooded men? Are you one of those who secretly envies other men who reflect health in their faces, their manners, their steps and who have the strength necessary to go through the duties of life without flinching or weakening?

Be a real man. Step out of the weakling state as you would step out of an old, worn-out suit.
